

Natural Accounts List

Natural Accounts

Natural Accounts group like financial transactions into accounting categories.

Most branches will use account groups 6 (Revenue) and 7 (Expenses).

Natural accounts for internal transactions include an alpha character.

The first character (account group) identifies whether a transaction is an asset, liability, equity, revenue or expense item.

Notes

Catering provided by City owned facilities

Where catering is provided by Council owned and operated facilities (e.g. Logan Entertainment Centre and Logan Metro InSports) the following natural accounts are to be used:

7B221 – where catering is provided that incurs FBT.

7B222 – where catering is provided that does not incur FBT.

Full details of catering provided, including purpose for catering, internal/external attendees and specifics of food and drink provided must be included on any internal invoice quoting natural accounts 7B221/7B222. Internal invoices raised for costs of catering must be authorised in accordance with Council's Instrument of Authorisation - Financial Authorisation Limits and Instrument of Authorisation - General Authorisations.

Instrument of Authorisation \(AUTH0009\) - Financial Authorisation Limits

Instrument of Authorisation \(AUTH 0012\) - General Authorisations

Treatment of Entertainment for FBT

Council uses the 50/50 method to determine FBT liability for meal entertainment. This means that all meal entertainment (whether for employees or non-employees) is subject to FBT at 50% of the value of the cost. Using the 50/50 method removes the need to analyse actual expenditure.

Reason Codes

A - Food is provided for a work-related purpose rather than an entertainment purpose.

B - Food is provided for the purpose of refreshment rather than an entertainment purpose.

C - Social function (recreation or meal entertainment). These are subject to FBT.

D - Expense benefits with a value of < $300 (including GST). These are minor benefits if provided infrequently and are exempt.

E - Expense benefits with a value of $300 or more. These are subject to FBT.

F - Light refreshments provided with work-related training.

G - Non work-related meal entertainment (e.g. for guest speaker, volunteer) or gift.

H - Requires assessment of a combination of factors:

1. Purpose food or drink is provided:

a. Refreshment only (i.e. light lunch & teas) 73512

b. Social 73511

2. Type of food or drink provided:

a. Tea/ light or finger lunch 73512

b. Elaborate meal/ alcohol 73511

3. When provided:

a. During work/ over time likely 73512

b. Outside of work likely 73511

4. Where provided:

a. On business premises likely 73512

b. Off site or function room likely 73511

I - Years of Service Gift < $500 FBT exempt from FBT

J - Years of Service Gift > $500 Subject to FBT

K - Event or gift for community members/non-employees - exempt from FBT

L - Presenter, speaker, entertainer's fee - non-FBT if for a community event - exempt from FBT 73515

GST Codes

The two main GST codes that will be used will either be a "C" or a "P" code. This is a highly complex area and is best left to the Finance Branch to assess. An additional column has been included in the GST Status Guide table attached but to keep things simple, generally use a "P" code for all allocations to 73511. Other allocations will normally carry a "C" code, but this is dependent on whether the supplier is registered for GST, the GST status of the supply and whether Fringe Benefits Tax (FBT) applies or not.

Consultant or Contractor?

Contractors differ from Employees because they are engaged under a different set of legal arrangements, for Consultants are a type of contractor that LCC defines separately for reporting services, and these definitions may Council's definition of a "Consultant"

- for reporting purposes a service provider can be categorised as a "consultant" (which may be an individual or an organisation) if all of the following elements are present:
 - Provides expert knowledge to analyse information, draw conclusions and make recommendations in form of a written report or an intellectual product for future action which Council must then decide upon or take
 - The nature of the output is not necessarily predictable, but tends to be open ended and is more complex (for example, a range of recommendations are presented for Council to consider).
- develops a new concept or process and where Council requires critical judgement to consider the recommended course of action.
- is engaged for a fixed period of time at an agreed payment rate.
- work which is not directly supervised by Council

Council definition of a "Contractor for services or carrying out work"

Other providers of services are categorised as contractors for LCC reporting purposes. There are generally two types of contractors:

Contractors for non-professional services - e.g. trade service (plumbers, painters), cleaning services, construction works and temporary staff (agency personnel) who are engaged to relieve vacant LCC employee

Independent contractor (professional services): An independent contractor is an "entity" engaged for services to be provided. An independent contractor relationship is defined as a contract for service and in this context an independent contractor is therefore contracted to achieve a specific result. Such engagement will have a start and end date in place, and will be temporary in nature and may not exceed 12 months in totality without approval from the Chief Executive Officer.

Temporary agency personnel: An individual employed by an agency, engaged to provide services to Council. Such engagement will have a start and end date in place, and will be temporary in nature and may not exceed 12 months in totality without approval from the Chief Executive Officer.

Contractors for professional services is generally where confusion may occur when categorising consultants and contractors - contractor implements an existing process to deliver a known product or outcome.

Overseas Travel Guide

Overseas Travel Guide

Each travel delegation requires the creation of a trip in the Overseas Travel System and each delegate travelling must also be created in this system. This is facilitated by Economic Development & City Planning (ED&CP) branch. ED&CP will advise the delegates team support officer of the cost code to be used for that delegates costs. This code should be used for all transactions relating to that delegates travel, e.g. flights, accommodation and reimbursement of business related expenditure.

Delegates will have a new cost code for each mission.

Copies of all receipts and reimbursements must be kept by the delegate.

Note - invoices issued overseas do not attract any GST - please use the code NA.
